Here is a hint to Pere Hyacinthe: After four months' study of English, Mme. Sembrich has learned to speak it well.

Barnum and the democratic party are in the same boat. Both have elephants on their hands that they don't know what to do with.

The stock growers in Dakota have formed themselves in a Judge Lynch court, and have hanged five horse and cattle thieves.

The democrats will have to hold their convention in Chicago. There is no other city that has hotels large enough to hold the candidates.

The Keely motor, like the democratic party, bobs up to the surface once in a while. Mr. Keely promises to have it in working order by February 1, 1884.

The agent of the Iowa grave-yard insurance company, who lives at Waukesha, has been arrested. The moral sense of the community demands that he shall be justly dealt with.

Good news from Boston. Ex-Congressman Murch, of Maine, who served four years in the house, and then went into the gilded saloon business at Boston, has failed. This is the kind of a failure that happens to be a public benefit.

The most important bill "Sunset" Cox ever introduced in congress was to reduce all drop letter postage to one cent. He probably never would have thought of this had he not seen the recommendation in the president's message.

The German government places the American hog on the same footing that the American government does the Chinaman. It forbids the transit of the hogs through its territory to other countries, even though they be placed in sealed cars.

Here is another instance of the effect of the supreme court decision in the civil rights case: A troupe of colored performers were refused admittance to the hotels at Vicksburg, on Wednesday, and were forced to leave town on a freight train in order to get shelter at a more hospitable place.

It was said that Lord Chief Justice Coleridge had determined to write a book about this country when he returned home. He has finally concluded not to write a book. This makes Lord Coleridge all the more popular, his name more illustrious, and his common sense more commanding.

The supreme court is so crowded with business that it requires about three years to get a case through that court. There are 772 on the docket, and cases are being piled up in greater proportion than they are disposed of. Unless congress shall do something to relieve the court, it will soon be hopelessly in arrears.

The organ of the Mormons at Salt Lake has raised the black flag. It defies the president's plan to suppress polygamy in Utah, and throws out the hint that there will be war if the commission business is undertaken. Inasmuch as the Mormons have put the chip on their shoulders, let us see if the government dare knock it off.

There is a remarkable revival of religion going on at the Centennial Methodist Episcopal church at Rockford, under the preaching of the Rev. Mr. Harrison, who is generally known as the "boy preacher." The church will accommodate 2,000 people, and on Sunday last it was full to overflowing and the streets for blocks around were filled with people who were anxious, but unable, to gain admission. Eighty persons were received into the church last Sunday.

Some time ago the legislature of Florida enacted a law which provided that the sale of intoxicating liquors should be prohibited in any election district in the state, except upon a petition of a majority of the voters in the district. Some doubted the validity of the law, and the question was taken to the supreme court of the United States, and that tribunal has just rendered a decision affirming the constitutionality of the act. Under this decision, the people of any election district may declare absolute prohibition if they desire. This prediction is made: "It will not be ten years until the states of the south will lead all the states of the union on the temperance question."

MR. PECK AND THE BAD BOYS.

A few days ago the Gazette printed the following editorial paragraph:

Some boys, who inspired by reading dime novels, the exploits of Buffalo Bill, and Peck's Bad boy, formed themselves into a band of thieves and robbers, and kept Milwaukee in a nervous state of excitement by their incendiaries. The confession of one of the says that they have set seventeen fires in one ward in one month, and that they were lead to this business by reading Peck's Bad Boy articles and other literature of this same stamp.

The statement in the last sentence of the above note, was given on the authority of the Milwaukee Sentinel and other papers, the supposition, of course, being that one of the boys actually confessed as stated, and therefore it became a matter of public concern. But it is a very easy thing for a newspaper to get a mile from the truth; and it also is a self-evident truth that there are two sides to every story. When Mr. Peck read the paragraph in the Gazette regarding the doings of the bad boys in Milwaukee, he kindly wrote as follows, enclosing the editorial note:

MILWAUKEE, December 13.

My Dear Smith:—The enclosed is an awful injustice to me. None of the boys ever said anything of the kind, and all admit that nothing they ever read in The Sun caused them to do a wrong act. The "Bad Boy" of the Sun is only bad in name. All the jokes he plays are played at home, and on his dad, who had rather he would play it on him, and do good away from home. The last paragraph of your article is entirely untrue.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. PECK.

The Gazette publishes this note in justice to Mr. Peck. We have just learned from the Evening Wisconsin, that the statement made by certain papers that the little fire-bugs in Milwaukee received their inspiration from Peck's Bad Boy has not the least show of truth in it and therefore its publication is a gross injustice to Mr. Peck.

HOME AND ABROAD.

Foreign and Domestic News---Notes of General Interest.

The Senate Secretaryship---Other Capital Items---The O'Donnell Case---A Poisoned King ---News Nuggets.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 14.—The Republican senators met in caucus to nominate officers of the senate, and the first officer voted on was clerk. There were three candidates, Gresham, Gen. Anson McCook and Ramsdell. McCook was nominated, it being thought by the Massachusetts and Connecticut men that, owing to the newspaper opposition, the nomination of Gresham would be a dangerous move in view of the coming presidential election. The caucus then adjourned until after the senate session.

McCook says that unless Senators Mahone and Riddleberger endorse the action of the caucus the vote on his election will be uncomfortably close. It is generally conceded, however, that the Democratic senators will offer no resistance to the complete reorganization of the senate by the Republicans. Subsequent to the caucus Senator Riddleberger was heard to remark that he would probably have important business to attend to in Virginia when the vote on the election of secretary occurs, thereby indicating that he will not assist in Gen. McCook's election. Should both Riddleberger and Mahone absent themselves, however, it is not thought probable that the election of the caucus nominee will be delayed.

Immediately after the adjournment of the senate the Republican senators reassembled for the purpose of completing their slate of senate officers. The following selections were made: For chief clerk, Charles W. Johnson, of Minnesota; executive clerk, James Young, of Pennsylvania; chaplain, E. D. Huntley, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Washington; sergeant-at-arms, William P. Canaday, editor of The Wilmington (N. C.) Post.

In the senate, among the bills introduced was one by Cullom to purchase additional grounds for the postoffice and court house at Springfield, Ill. The resolutions offered by Van Wyck, calling for copies of all papers relating to the attempted transfer of land grants of the Southern Pacific railroad and how much had been the payments to special attorneys and detectives for service in state-route trials, were passed. The report of the committee on rules was submitted, and the rule which gives the president pro tem. the right to name in open senate, or, if absent, in writing, a senator to perform the duties of the chair, was discussed, the provision that the senator so designated may discharge the duties for three days without action by the senate being objected to by Bayard and Garland, which latter gentleman offered an amendment changing that provision, but the amendment was lost. The senate then went into executive session, and 2:20 p. m. adjourned till Monday.]

O'Donnell's Story of the Killing.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—O'Donnell has taken final leave of his friends. His brother was with him for half an hour. O'Donnell told him that just previous to the shooting, Carey had asked him to go below and order some beer, saying he would go himself but did not care to have his wife see him. O'Donnell went below and Carey followed soon after. While they were drinking together Carey said with an oath: "I believe you know me." O'Donnell replied: "Yes; you are Carey, the informer." Carey then drew a pistol and attempted to fire, but O'Donnell knocked it upward, drew his own and fired. Carey's son was the first person to come toward them. He picked up his father's pistol. Beyond this O'Donnell refused to talk on the subject. He is in good spirits and hopeful.

The letter of Mr. Sullivan to Russell, O'Donnell's counsel, in reference to the alleged misapprehension of Judge Denman's language in his charge to the jury, contends that the judge misdirected the minds of the jury when he intimated that there was no evidence that Carey had a revolver. O'Donnell's friends maintain that, although no evidence was offered to this effect, there was no proof that Carey was not armed, and by harping on the word "evidence," and using that word instead of "proof," the judge obtained a verdict of guilty of wilfull murder. Minister Lowell states that if any of the jury say the verdict was influenced thereby, he is willing to seek mitigation of the sentence.

Six members of the jury have been found. Three say their verdict was influenced by the judge's dictum. One has offered the use of his house for a meeting of the jury to review the matter. The government refuses to give the addresses of the jurymen because of the threats of the newspaper United Irishman against them. If a meeting of the jury is possible, the crown might be forced to mitigate the sentence, but there is no hope of tracing the remaining members in time to prevent the execution. It is understood the jury stood seven for murder and five for manslaughter before the dictum of the judge was delivered.

American Hog in France.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 14.—Secretary of State Frelinghuysen has received from Minister Morton at Paris a copy of the decree repealing that of February 18, 1881, by which the importation of American pork was prohibited in France, together with a copy of the circular of the minister of commerce addressed to the prefects informing them of the decision taken, and simply advising them to see that the pork offered to the public is fully cured and recommending to those making use of such meats that they should be fully cooked, as it is scientifically and experimentally established that thorough cooking and salting destroys trichinosis where it exists.

The King of Anam Poisoned.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Despatches received here refute the story published in Paris that a revolution has taken place at Hue, and that the king of Anam has been killed. The despatches state that no revolt has taken place, and that nothing unusual has occurred there to warrant the supposition that a disturbance is imminent.

LATER.—By later dispatches received here the report of the death of Tiep Hoa, king of Anam is confirmed and also that he was poisoned. The mandarins at Hue openly express contempt for the French treaty and have proclaimed war against France. It will be necessary for France to strengthen her garrison at Hue in order to hold the place.

Bradlaughlin Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Mr. Charles Bradlaugh, the English freethinker, was given a banquet by his friends and admirers. Among the guests were many senators and deputies. In responding to a toast Mr. Bradlaugh declared that a Republican form of government in England was slowly but surely coming, and would give to that country what was secured to France in 1793.

Four of a Kind.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Dec. 14.—The wife of John Howie, of Homerville, gave birth to four boys. One died two hours afterward, but the others are doing well.

THEY FOUGHT FOR HER.

How a Pretty Girl's Favors Caused an Unpleasantness.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 14.—A masque party given by the Odd Fellows the other night was attended by a pretty young lady who had been receiving the attentions of two young men, both of whom are employed at the same works, one as a boss molder and the other as a master mechanic. Neither one was sure that the other knew the lady. The molder was the first to penetrate her disguise and learn the young lady's identity, and thereafter he monopolized her society until late in the evening, when, in the giddy whirl of the waltz her mask suddenly becoming detached, she was recognized by the machinist, who was costumed as a sailor. He at once seized and tore her from the embrace of the molder, and, the latter resenting the sudden interruption of his pleasure, a fight was imminent, but was prevented. The remainder of the evening the society of the fair damsel was enjoyed by the machinist. When the two men came to work words were exchanged, and a challenge to fight was made and accepted. They were about equally matched, and at the noon hour they proceeded to the grove west of the factory. Everything being arranged, time was called and the rivals went to pounding each other. The machinist proved the more scientific, and in six minutes the molder was obliged to throw up the sponge. The young woman is now in a quandary. The parental mandate has gone forth forbidding her attending any more dances, and interdicting all further intercourse between her and either of her pugilistic suitors.

IN A ST. LOUIS COURT.

A Slight Misunderstanding Which Ends in Slugging.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 14.—Henry Boemler, a young lawyer, and Ben Von Phul, a real estate man and member of one of the oldest and wealthiest families in the city, had a personal encounter in circuit court No. 1. The case of Von Phul vs. Aloys Menne was being tried, and Boemler was Menne's attorney. Von Phul was suing for his commission as Menne's agent on certain real-estate transactions. The case occupied the attention of the court all the morning. At 12:30 o'clock Boemler arose to address the jury. In his speech, which was exceedingly bitter, he stated that Mr. Von Phul had knowingly given perjured testimony. Immediately Von Phul jumped to his feet and proceeded to give the offensive attorney a thrashing. He grabbed him by the collar of the coat and then got his head in chancery. Boemler made only a feeble resistance and was roughly handled. Before the deputy sheriff in charge of the court-room could reach the two men, Von Phul had torn Boemler's coat almost into shreds and bruised his face with two or three well-directed blows. When Von Phul had been dragged off, Judge Adams called him before him and administered a severe rebuke. He then ordered Von Phul to be taken to jail for ten days, and that Boemler be fined $50. Afterward Von Phul's punishment was commuted to a $150 fine.

Found in the Lake.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 14.—The body of a handsomely dressed, good looking woman 25 years of age was taken out of the lake early in the day. After being taken to the morgue the remains were identified as those of Mrs. Julia F. Morgan. She committed suicide some time in the night, and the story of her life is an exceedingly sad one. Her parents are well-to-do residents of Bloomington, Ill. She married a St. Louis man, who died soon after the bridal tour. A year ago she married Morgan in Chicago. He worked at the printer's trade. They came to this city and last May her husband deserted her. Since that time she lived with friends. No cause for the suicide other than her unhappy life is assigned. Her parents were telegraphed for.

Allowed to Go Free.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Criminal conspiracy was the charge in answer to which George W. Spotts had nothing to say. He is the son-in-law of a wealthy Indianapolis merchant, and had to leave that city about September 1 for swindling his father-in-law. He came with his wife to Chicago, lost all his money on the board of trade and in faro banks and to retrieve his fortune planned the robbery of $1,000 belonging to the Republic mills on Kinzie street, where his brother is a member of the firm. A negro named Jones, who was to commit the crime, was arrested and confessed. Spots being highly connected was allowed to go free on condition he would leave for Indianapolis immediately.

Will Have the Democrats, Anyhow.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14.—The giving of the Republican national convention to Chicago has awakened a great deal of indignation on the part of the hotel keepers and business men of this city. At a preliminary meeting a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions, and before adjournment nearly $3,000 had been raised and more guaranteed, and the prospects are now that the next Democratic candidate for president will be nominated in Cincinnati.

Washington Monument

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 14.—The annual report of the Washington monumental commission, just submitted to congress, shows that the monument was increased from 440 to 410 feet in height at a cost of $130,032. The unexpended portion of the appropriation will be sufficient to complete the monument by December, 1884, but additional appropriations for adorning the approaches and illuminating the shaft will be required.

Beat the Champion.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 14.—Dr. J. H. Zukertort, the champion chess player, was beaten by Alexander G. Sellman, of the Baltimore chess club, in a game of three hours duration. Sellman was one of the opponents of the champion in the recent international chess tournament. This is the first time Zukertort has been beaten in a game played on even terms since his visit to this country.

Wasn't a Soft Snap.

URBANA, Ohio, Dec. 14.—J. B. Weant has filed a suit in court here against Miss Rose Snapp, to whom he had been engaged since 1879. Miss Snapp informed Weant a few days since that she had learned to love another. So to heal up his heart he sues her for $12,000 damages. This is the first time a man has ever sued a lady for breach of promise in this part of the country.

Fatally Burned.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Bridget Cleary, aged 38 years, residing at 24 City Hall place, while cleaning her rooms with turpentine tipped over a lighted candle, the flame of which ignited the fluid. She was fatally burned, but the fire department soon extinguished the flames. The loss will not exceed $1,000.

Found Where Burglars Hid It.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 14.—W. S. Lacey, yard master at the depot here, found $5,500 in bonds belonging to C. C. Davis, the Wallace, N. H., druggist, which one of the burglars who escaped a few nights ago secreted.

TWO TRAGIC DEATHS.

An Ex-Senator's Divorced Wife Dies a Maniac in New York.

Sensational Suicide in a Hotel---Betrayed and Forsaken, Miss Keiser Puts a Bullet in Her Brain.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 14.—The divorced wife of ex-Senator Christiancy came to a tragic end in this city. Eight weeks ago she came on a visit to 45 Schermerhorn street, on the invitation of a lady residing there. Her hostess' house being full, however, a room was provided for her in the adjoining residence of Mrs. Dr. Dupre. Mrs. Christiancy desired to conceal her identity, so she was known at both houses as Miss Lizzie Lugenbeel, which was her maiden name. She spent most of her time with her friends, only going to the lady doctor's house to sleep. Dr. Dupre soon came to the conclusion that his lodger was a victim of the chloral habit, but as she made no trouble, no notice was taken of the fact. About two weeks ago Miss Christiancy began to complain of her eyes, and an oculist who was called declared that she was insane. He also discovered that his patient was the divorced wife of the ex-senator, and revealed her identity to Dr. Dupre. This made Mrs. Christiancy very much excited and she begged for protection, saying that she was a persecuted woman. On Monday she became so violent that Dr. Dupre had to be summoned to quiet her. A few minutes after, the lodger left the house and was not seen again until she drove up to the house in a carriage. She was in a state of great excitement, and could not talk coherently. She told a story about having been in New York, which she subsequently denied. A sedative was administered by Dr. Dupre, and three other physicians were summoned who declared that Mrs. Christiancy was dying from mental disease and physical prostration. She continued to sink until evening, when she died; a raving maniac. Her parents arrived from Washington too late to see her alive. As a bottle of chloral was found upon the mantel in her room, an autopsy has been ordered to determine whether or not she committed suicide.

Late in the evening the three male and three female doctors who made the post mortem examination of Mrs. Christiancy's body reported that her death was caused by Bright's disease of the kidneys. Evidences of cerebral trouble were also discovered.

Miss Keiser's Suicide.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Miss Rose E. Keiser, aged 30, years, of 163 West Forty-fourth street, committed suicide at the Windsor hotel, by shooting herself through the head. Miss Keiser was on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Dunne, who had a suite of rooms at the hotel, and without any apparent reason she suddenly drew a pistol and shot herself in the head.

Miss Keiser was a native of Utica, and had been employed for several months in this city by two large firms as a stenographer. Officer Schofield, of the Windsor hotel, made the following statement to a representative of the press: "Miss Keiser drove up to the ladies' entrance of the hotel about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and walked up stairs to the suite of apartments on the second floor occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Dunne. About an hour later I was informed that there was trouble in Dunne's apartments. I went up and heard loud talk in Dunne's rooms. After waiting a few minutes I heard the report of a pistol followed by a piercing scream. I then forced open the door and found Miss Keiser lying on the floor with blood streaming from a wound in her head. Mr. and Mrs. Dunne were in the room, apparently horror stricken. I raised the lady up and laid her on the sofa. She opened her eyes and exclaimed, "Oh, my God," then fell back and expired. Mr. and Mrs. Dunne left the room. The coroner was notified, and ordered the body of the unfortunate lady removed to an undertaker's in the Bowery.

It was learned that ten days ago Mr. Dunne was married to a young lady connected with one of the best families in this country at Miss Keiser's boarding-house; it was stated that she was a beautiful and accomplished lady and loved by all who knew her. She kept regular hours and received no visitors. After the coroner had taken Mr. and Mrs. Dunne's statement he examined the dead girl's body and found the following letter addressed to Mrs. Keiser, Utica, New York:

"Mother: Forgive me, and pray to God to pardon your broken-hearted daughter. How I have suffered you can guess from this act. Curse the love that makes your child thus forget you. I tried to conquer it but no power of will could quench it. Pray for me. You do not know what this costs me. Think kindly of me. I have been so wronged more than I can acknowledge, and God alone knows how I have been deceived. Again farewell, my mother. Have I deserved this? ROSE."

The police of the central office were notified of the tragedy, and are making a thorough investigation of all the facts connected with the case.

We sell no wild imperfect goods without a brand at all, representing them to be regular goods. For the truth of my assertions we refer to the goods for examination. We show OUR COLORS and TAKE OUR CHANCES in a square deal.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14.

MURDER IN 'FRISCO.

McLaughlin, the Millionaire, Shot to Death.

A Long-Continued Law Suit Results in a Tragedy---The Murderer's Mind Supposed to be Affected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—Charles McLaughlin, the millionaire, was shot dead by Jerome B. Cox, who claimed from him a large sum of money on contracts made for the construction of the Western Pacific railroad, now forming a portion of the Central Pacific system. In five different trials Cox got judgment against McLaughlin, all of which were reversed in time by the supreme court. Cox's mind became affected by what he considered injustice, and he determined to obtain justice from his own point of view. He went to McLaughlin's office, and smiling, said: "How are you, Charlie. I'd like to speak with you privately. Come into the next room, where we'll be alone." Together they went into McLaughlin's private office. They had not been there more than three minutes when a pistol shot, succeeded by two others in rapid succession, was heard. The clerks immediately opened the door, and McLaughlin, followed by Cox, staggered into the office, where he fell. One of the clerks darted for the police station, and to the first officer he met said: "For God's sake, come over quick; Mr. McLaughlin has been shot." When the officer reached the office, the dying man said: "He [pointing to Cox] asked me to give him $40,000, and when I refused he shot me." Cox, at this, sprang from his chair, excitedly saying: "Its a lie!"

Surgeon Toland soon arrived, and, seeing that the wounded man had but a few minutes to live, told him if he had anything to say to say it quickly. Brandy was administered, which revived him. McLaughlin made the following ante-mortem statement:

I believe I am going to die. My name is Charles McLaughlin. I am about 50 years of age. I was born in Pennsylvania. I was shot by Jerome B. Cox. He came to my room. I was sitting in my chair. He found me alone. He said to me: "Will you settle with me in that lawsuit?" I then said: "Mr. Cox, I would always settle without any trouble." He then said: "Well will go into the room where there is no one and all will be settled." He put the pistol to my forehead and demanded $40,000. I said I would pay him $40,000 when it was settled. He then shot me, and I pulled him toward the door and called for the young man, Arthur, when he shot me again. I have always been willing to settle with the man on fair terms. He shot me three times—once in the neck, once in the breast, and once in the stomach. The pistol was pointed first at my brain.

CHARLES MCLAUGHLIN.

Before the completion of the statement he had become so weak as to be unable to sign his name. On being sustained he made his mark. His wife soon arrived on the scene, and with a shriek threw herself on the floor beside her husband. The noise attracted his attention. He opened his eyes, and as his glance rested on the face of his wife he gave a sigh of recognition, and in a few moments expired. McLaughlin, it is said, never denied owing Cox money. The former was possessed of large means, his fortune being estimated at fully $2,000,000. He came here in 1849, and made his first start in an old mail-route. His sale of the Western Pacific road to the Central Pacific netted him a large sum. He leaves a wife, but no children.

Cox, his slayer, always stood well in the community. He served during the war with a good record. He is a native of Virginia, and has a wife and three daughters. One of them is married and residing in New Jersey.

The Canadian Pacific Strike.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—A special from Winnipeg, Manitoba, says there is no practical change in the Canadian Pacific railway strike. Overtures made by the men for a peaceful solution of the difficulty have been refused by the company, which insists upon complete submission to their terms. The only train out was one sent south, which will return in the morning. Mails are being conveyed by teams and hand-cars, and throughout Manitoba business is greatly retarded. The men expect President Arthur, of the Locomotive brotherhood, to bring about a speedy settlement. Special police precautions are adopted, and policemen are stationed on moving engines to prevent damage by the strikers. The company expect shortly to be able to run passenger trains.

Where Is This Young Lady?

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 14.—No tidings of the missing young lady, Miss Nellie Cooley, who left her home early on Sunday morning, have yet been received by her friends, and the greatest anxiety is felt in consequence. The search is being kept up, and the reward for her return, dead or alive, was increased to $1,000. There is a faint belief that the young lady may yet be found alive, but the most universal belief is that her body is in the Susquehanna river.

The Tribune Strike.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The fifty-nine compositors who left The Tribune office still remain out, with no prospects, they say, of conceding anything to the paper. Twenty of the old hands remained at work. According to the statement of the foreman of the composing-room The Tribune has all the compositors necessary, and the strikers will not be taken back under any consideration.

Killed Off Early.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The Home Valley Preserving company, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, has become financially embarrassed, two of its creditors having obtained attachments against it. The company was only incorporated last May with an authorized capital of $50,000, with a factory and a farm of 130 acres.

Bonanza in British America.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 14.—Advices have been received here showing that a large gold find has been discovered in the Rocky mountains, a mile or two south of Padmore. The find is reported to the department of agriculture as an immense bonanza. The surface find was of copper, assaying 150 pounds per ton, and under that deposit the gold was found.

Meeting and Procession Proclaimed.

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—Earl Spencer, lord lieutenant of Ireland, has proclaimed the proposed meeting and procession at Londonderry on December 18. This meeting was designed to commemorate the defense of that place by the apprentice boys in 1689.

A Newspaper Intimation.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 14.—An evening paper intimates that at the next meeting of the finance committee Senator Sherman will oppose the confirmation of Mr. Evans' nomination to be commissioner of internal revenue.

A Druggist's Story.

Mr. Isaac C. Chapman, druggist, Newburg, N. Y., writes us: "I have for the past ten years sold several gross of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I can say of it what I cannot say of any other medicine. I have never heard a customer speak of it but to praise its virtues in the highest manner. I have recommended it to a great many cases of Whooping Cough, with the happiest effects. I have used it in my own family for many years; in fact, always have a bottle in the medicine closet ready for use."

Is Fun Better than Physic?

Fun is excellent; a hearty laugh is known the whole world over to be a health promoter; but fun does not fill the bill when a man needs physic, on the other hand people take too much physic. They would be more healthy, live longer and enjoy life thoroughly if they used Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which cures all blood disorders, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, removes pimples, and is a perfect tonic. Can be taken by the most delicate. Only 50 cents per bottle, of Stearns & Baker.

Letter From Senator Jacobs.

Senate Chamber, Albany, N. Y., March 31st, 1882.—For a long time it has been my habit to use BRANDRETH'S PILLS. In fact, I have seldom had occasion to use any other medicine, and it affords me great pleasure to say that for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and the other ills of the system, to which men in public life are more apt than others to be subject, they are an invaluable remedy.

JOHN C. JACOBS.

For Constipation, Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Dizziness and Headache, no medicine equals "BRANDRETH'S PILLS." Pure and simple, containing no mercury, they are the family medicine-chest and safe-guard.

A Clergyman's Testimony.

W. E. Gifford, pastor M. E. church Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with dyspepsia in its worst form until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

DIPHTHERIA ON THE DEEP.

Sickness and Death Among Steerage Children on the Steamship India.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The German steamship India, which arrived, had among its passengers 143 children. Of these sixty-three were infants. The vessel had been but a few days out when diphtheria made its dreaded appearance in the steerage. It first attacked Friederich Kollakowski, 2 years and 7 months old. The child was removed from the steerage and placed in an isolated part of the ship. There the little sufferer was attended by the ship's surgeon. The condition of the child rapidly became worse, however, and death came to its relief on November 27. In the meantime three children of Martin and Martine Neilson—namely C. A. Neilson, aged 3 years and 6 months; N. A. Neilson, aged 6 years and 1 month, and J. T. Neilson, aged 5 years and 1 month—were also attacked, and were removed from the steerage. The physician did all in his power to save their lives, but without success. They died Nov. 28, Dec. 2 and 7 respectively. The bodies of the four little ones were buried in the sea as quietly as possible, and many of the passengers were even unaware of the presence of the disease on board. Every precaution was taken to prevent the disease from spreading. The clothing of the afflicted children and their bedding was cast overboard and fumigation was freely resorted to. At quarantine the vessel was found to be in a thoroughly safe condition.

The National Game.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14.—The American Base Ball association reassembled with President H. D. McKnight, of Pittsburg, in the chair and Secretary Williams at his post. A partial revision of the constitution was made. The president has been given a salary of $500 a year. He has heretofore worked for glory. The secretary's salary of $500 was increased to $800. The changes in the rules are unimportant. Chief among the new ones are that no games can be played on any grounds other than prescribed by the schedule, unless with the secretary's consent. The time for championship games next season was fixed from May 1, to October 15, instead of October 1, as this year. Mr. Harry Wright addressed a private letter to one of the delegates requesting him to propose the following two changes, viz.: That the pitcher should start in future two feet farther back than previously, and that the runner be allowed to overrun the second and third bases just like the first.

It Was No Consequence.

BOSTON, Dec. 14.—A collar and elbow wrestling match for $300 a side and the worlds' championship, between H. M. Dufur, of Marlboro, Mass., and John McMahon, of Bakersfield, Vt., occurred in the Howard athenæum before a large audience. Six years ago the two wrestled six hours before a big audience in Music hall in an endeavor to settle the supremacy. They wrestled two hours this time, neither gaining a fair fall, and at the end of that time McMahon gave up and the match and stakes were awarded to Dufur. All bets were declared off. The audience was supremely disgusted and everybody declared the affair to be a mere farce. During the match J. W. Saxe, a spectator, fell dead of heart disease, but the event caused no comment, sympathetic or otherwise.

The Emma Bond Case.

HILLSBORO, Ill., Dec. 14.—Miss Emma Bond, in telling her sad story in the court-room here, positively identified John C. Montgomery as one of her assailants. Before her testimony was finished she was attacked by hysteria and carried out by her mother and sister. She detailed the circumstances of the outrage, stating that she was suddenly seized from behind, and pulled up through a scuttle in the ceiling to a loft above the school-room, where she was chloroformed, cut repeatedly in the throat and on the wrists with a knife and outraged several times. She begged her assailants to kill her rather than outrage her. She identified Montgomery as she was being pulled up through the scuttle. The cross-examination brought out nothing new. Miss Bond was the only witness examined.

Ohio Central Receiver Appointed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 14.—Judge Baxter, in the United States court, appointed J. E. Martin permanent receiver of the Ohio Central Railroad and Coal company, A. W. Scott as general local counsel and counsel for the southern district, and C. H. Scribner for the northern district. Bond $50,000. Judges Sage of the Ohio district concurred. Judge Jackson, of Wheeling, was here, but did not confer with Baxter. Martin will be permanent receiver by prior jurisdiction. This ousts Thomas R. Sharp, appointed in West Virginia, and gives Martin control of all from Toledo to Charleston, and the court announced previously that any act of Sharp, as receiver, would be null and void.

Public Feeling in Missouri.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14.—Frank James has been released on bail, eighteen bondsmen appearing for him. "The state is satisfied with the bond," remarked the humorous clerk. James was, however, at once re-arrested on the charge of killing Captain Sheets, bank cashier. He will be taken to Gallatin. The public feeling is, "Poor fellow, he will die in jail yet."

The Daily Outrage.

DAYTON, Ohio, Dec. 14.—Intelligence has just reached here that all the farmers at a little settlement eight miles from here are searching for traces of a party of three young men who raped the 14-year-old daughter of a farmer there. She was sent after the cows, and was caught by the three young brutes and ravished. Left in a pitiable condition, she made her way home late in the night.

Illness of Speaker Carlisle.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 14.—Speaker Carlisle has been so prostrated by the arduous duties imposed upon him that he has been compelled to deny himself to callers, except to a few personal friends. In front of his room at the capitol he has stationed a trusted henchman who will not present cards even from representatives.

Damage by Smoke.

READING, Pa., Dec. 14.—A lot of packing straw in the cellar of Keffer & Co.'s queensware store caught fire from an unknown cause, creating an awful volume of smoke, which penetrated into Kline & Eppheimer's large dry goods store, filled with Christmas novelties. The damage to both places will be $12,000.

Preparing for "Unser Fritz."

ROME, Dec. 14.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the reception in Rome of the Crown Prince Frederick William. A great military review of 20,000 troops will be one of the features of the occasion.

Tseng Will Be There.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Marquis Tseng, Chinese embassador, will be present at the official dinner to be given by Premier Ferry, December 23.

Election of an Episcopal Bishop.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 14.—Rev. Dr. A. A. Watson, of Wilmington, N. C., was unanimously elected bishop of the new Episcopal diocese by the convention at Newbern.

RAWLINS' BACK SUPPORTING

Shoulder Braces.

A varied experience amongst Children and growing Girls as Teacher and medical attendant, lead Miss Emma J. Rawlins, the inventor of this BRACE, to believe that stooping shoulders and most spinal affections among Girls arise from the following causes: Debilitated muscles, owing to a lack of free and unrestricted exercise such as is allowed their brothers, of bad positions in standing and sitting.

This Brace affords a firm, yet gentle, SUPPORT TO THE BACK, at the same time drawing the shoulders backwards and downwards, expanding the chest and giving a healthy and graceful position.

THE RICH MEN OF AMERICA.

Millionaires Who Have Accumulated Their Money in all Sorts of Enterprises.

The rich men of New York—the Vanderbilts, the Goulds, the Astors—everybody knows about. The New York Sun has got together an interesting collection of stories about the rich men of other cities who have not such a national reputation. There is no one in Philadelphia, according to the Sun who is particularly noted for wealth. The average Philadelphian would be puzzled to tell who are the richest citizens, but in Third street, where the brokers are accustomed to sizing up fortunes, the wealthiest men are reported to be Mr. William Weightman, Mr. Frank Drexel and Mr. I. V. Williamson. These gentlemen are worth ten or twelve millions each. It is curious that not one of these has a hobby of any sort. All live comparatively quiet lives. They are not fond of fast horses, of yachting, or of coaching. The names are never mentioned in public meetings and they are never heard of in politics. Mr. Weightman has made most of his money out of quinine. The firm of Powers & Weightman for a long time practically had a monopoly of this business. Old Mr. Weightman can be seen in his shirt sleeves at almost any time in his chemical works, at Ninth and Parrish streets. Mr Powers is dead. Mr. Weightman has grown up in the business, and a visitor would not know him by his dress from the foreman of a department. His fortune must be accumulating rapidly. He may give away money, but if he does it is in secret. He makes no donation in public. His daughter is the wife of R. J. C. Walker, of Williamsport, Pa., an ex-congressman. Mr. I. V. Williamson is a different sort of a man. He is director of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad. In his early life he was a dry goods merchant and invested his money in railway stock. He never purchased in margins. His plan was to buy stock outright when there was a break in the market and hold it. He has been very successful. Mr. Williamson is a very benevolent man. He gives a great deal of money to all sorts of charitable institutions. Mr. Frances A. Drexel is the head of the banking house of Drexel & Co. He lives in a handsome house on Walnut street, above Fifteenth. His life is very quiet. He is passionately fond of music, and is never happier than when seated at his organ and surrounded by a large collection of musical works. He is a devout Catholic, and gives largely to charities but always through church channels.

A BENEVOLENT MAN AND A MISER.

The richest man in the District of Columbia is probably the venerable W. W. Corcoran. His great start as a capitalist was made during the Mexican war, when he bought government bonds when they were far below par, and held them until they were redeemed at their face value. Since this fortunate speculation he has spent his business life in banking and in the care of his property, which is reputed to be worth $3,500,000. Of late years however, the active management of his affairs has been in the hands of an agent, himself an aged and wealthy man; while Mr. Corcoran has indulged his taste for art and fondness for public charities.

It would be difficult to find two men more unlike in disposition and habits than Mr. Corcoran and the man who is is supposed to be his rival in wealth, Joseph A. Willard. Mr. Willard alone know how much he is worth. The conjecture of well informed citizens vary by millions. Some guess he is not worth a million; others believe he is worth from five to ten millions. "Joe" Willard is an odd character. He lives all alone in a plain old-fashioned house in Fourteenth street, near F street, which is also kept closed. He has no friends and no haunts, takes part in no public or business enterprises which involves social relations, indulges in no sports or social engagements, never goes to church, has no family except one son, who lives away from home; never speaks to his two brothers, Henry and Caleb, with whom he quarreled long ago, and in short meets the world at as few points of contact as possible. His sole aim, apparently, is to accumulate money, and in this he has been marvelously successful. He owns one-half of Willard's hotel, and a large quantity of real estate in the District, and is the largest holder of government bonds in Washington. Few residents of Washington have ever seen this old millionaire, for one of his eccentricities is to rarely leave his house in the day time. After nightfall, however, it is his custom to sally forth and walk about town to inspect his property, and Mrs. Grundy observes that he always goes back to the house by the basement door and then bolts everything carefully up for the night. He attends to his rents himself, and as fast as he collects his money goes to the bank or the treasury and buys government bonds.

GREAT FORTUNES IN BOSTON.

The names of rich men in Boston stand about this order: Fred. L. Ames, John M. Forbes, Joseph B. Thomas, J. Montgomery Sears, Benjamin P. Cheny, Augustus Heminway. The list of plain millionaires contains some 108 names according to the assessors' lists, a ratio of just one in 1,000 of the number of persons assessed. Mr. Ames is the only one whose name is familiar to the public, and he is chiefly known to the public as the son of Oakes Ames and the brother of the millionaire lieutenant-governor. The best estimate of Mr. Ames's fortune makes it between $22,000,000 and $25,000,000. He is assessed for $15,000,000. He is a quiet, unassuming business man, about fifty years old. The nucleus of his fortune, some five or six millions, he obtained by inheritance, and his chief aim has been the developement of his father's great enterprise, the Union Pacific railroad.

Business men estimate John M. Forbes wealth at about $15,000,000. He is a man of whose personal life his business associates learn but little. He is an old-fashioned Boston merchant. He made money first in the carrying trade, then in the commission business, and the bulk of his fortune in western railroad enterprises. Mr Forbes' residence is a fine old country seat at Milton, whence he often drives in to his Boston office. His summer house is a most delightful spot on the island of Naushon in Buzzard's Bay.

J. Montgomery Sears is one of the youngest of Boston millionaires. He is not yet 30, and on attaining his majority he received his millions from the administrators of his father's estate. Not long ago he was made the victim of a most surprising attempt at blackmail. This is the first public allusion to the case that has been made, and the detailed facts are almost beyond reach. This much is known, that enormous demands for cash were made, and a plot to place Mr. Sears in a compromising position was laid with great skill. The blackmailers spent some thousand dollars in preparing it, and carried on a voluminous correspondence with their intended victim, and finally lost all they risked and fled from the country. The chief of the conspiracy was driven mad by the failure of his great strike for riches and is now an inmate of an American Insane asylum. One or two of the leaders of the conspiracy were the most dangerous of Parisian blackmailers and part of the plot was laid abroad, and Mr. Sear's detectives were compelled to make one or two trips to Paris before the conspiracy was broken up.

RICHEST MEN OF THE WEST

John D. Rockfeller is the richest man in Cleveland, and is worth in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. Every dollar of this vast sum was made, directly or indirectly, out of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Rockfeller is 40 years of age and comes of Scotch ancestry. When a young man he was a commission merchant. He started a small distillery as an experiment, the nucleus of the Standard Oil company. He is superintendent of the Sunday School of the Second Baptist church, and his wife a former school teacher, teaches the infant class. J. H. Wade is the second richest man in Cleveland. He is worth, perhaps, $5,000,000. He was originally a poor carpenter. Forty years ago he became an amateur photographer and portrait painter; and thirty-seven years ago he took the first daguerreotype ever made west of New York city. Mr. Wade was the originator of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Few persons familiar with the great estates of Chicago will question the statement that the largest estate is that of Cyrus H. McCormick, which is estimated by financiers at from $10,000,000 to $15,-000,000. He made it in manufacturing reaping machines. Probably the second in rank is Marshall Field, who is not over 48 years of age. He is a native of Conway, Mass., and at an early day entered a dry goods store. When Potter Palmer, during the war, decided to abandon mercantile life, Mr. Field had $35,000 or so with which to purchase the chief interest in the valuable plant. It soon became apparent that he had financial abilities of the highest order, and he now stands at the head of the merchant princes of Chicago. His wealth is estimated at from $4,000,000 to $7,000,000. There are many shrewd business men who insist that the second richest man is Phillip D. Armour. He has had some wonderful strokes of luck, and has been known to hint that he had $10,000,000 in cash with which to work corners. It is quite well known that he has been caught on the losing side this year to the tune of millions. But for this he would probably take the second instead of the third rank. He has made his money in pork packing.

Alexander Mitchell is by all odds the richest man in Milwaukee—he is in fact, the richest man in the northwest. His wealth is variously estimated all the way from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000. He is certainly worth $15,000,000 in solid property. Mr. Mitchell is a short Scotchman, with a round, ruddy face and is a good liver and a man whose one great hobby is business. He cannot exactly be called self-made, as he was backed by a great corporation, which furnished to him the means of embarking in the banking business. Still, thirty years ago, when Milwaukee was a struggling village, he occupied a little office which for many years he swept out and took care of himself. Half of his wealth was made in the banking business and the other half out of railroads. He boasts that he never made a dollar by speculation.

Henry Shaw, of St. Louis, an Englishman, is worth $7,000,000. He is a bachelor. The foundation of his fortune was laid in the fur trade, but the bulk of it was acquired by fortunate land investments. David Swinton who is worth perhaps $5,000,000, is the richest man in Cincinnati. He made his money in the manufacture of iron. John Hill, of St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Manitoba road is worth probably $9,000,000. Three conservative men, two of them presidents of large banks, gave estimates of Mr. Hill's wealth, which averaged $9,500,000. In answer to the question, "Who are the richest men in St. Paul?" all but one put Mr. Hill first. Dennis Ryan came second, with no definite figures. One banker said: "All we know is that he shows immense money at times. He is a mystery." Commodore Kittson (owner of Jolmaton; 2:10) came third, with about $3,000,000.

RICH MEN OF THE SOUTH.

There are a number of rich men in the southern states. The richest man in Baltimore is the venerable but vigorous founder of the Baltimore Sun, Jonah S. Abell. It is difficult to state how much he is worth; not less than a dozen millions certainly; and the amount of his fortune is variously estimated at any figure up to $20,000,000. The second largest purse in Baltimore is carried by Ross Winans, the son of the famous Thomas Winans who made a matter of about $20,000,000 in building railroads for the czar of Russia, and left as much to his two children Ross and Celeste, when he died some ten years ago. This fortune was not allowed to grow less. Mr. Winans has recently built himself a castle on St. Paul street.

James B. Pace is the richest man in Richmond. His fortune is estimated at $1,200,000 and all of it has been made since the war out of tobacco. His absorbing interests are the Methodist religion and politics. Charles E. Whitlock is ranked as the second richest man. His wealth is estimated at $750,000. He made his money in saving his earnings while a clerk for ten years, and then cautiously embarked in the lumber business.

Mr William Smith is generally conceded to be the wealthiest citizen of Charleston. He is rated at between one and two millions, although he is down on the municipal books at only $275,000. This however does not include his bank stocks and other non-taxable property. Mr. Smith has three daughters, all married. He owns a wharf or two and carries on the business of a cotton factor.

By popular opinion, as well as by the assessment rolls, Colonel Ed. Richardson, president of the World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial exposition, is declared to be the richest man in New Orleans. A large part of his wealth is in plantations in Mississippi, but he owns much real estate, and the firm of Richardson & May, Cotton factors, of which he is the senior member, pays taxes on a capital of $3,000,000. Colonel Richardson is a native of North Carolina, and was born in 1818. He became a clerk in a dry-goods store in Danville, Va., in 1832.

Baxter's Mandrake Bitters are recommended by physicians, and druggists as being an excellent remedy. Sold by Stearns & Baker. Price 25 cents.

SENATOR BECK'S PECULIARITY.

He Explains How He Was Mysteriously Helped in Acquiring His Education in Latin.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

"Talking about peculiarities of men's minds, I heard Senator Beck tell a queer story the other day," said a gentleman to some friends last night. "We were all discussing the same subject that is up now, when Senator Beck remarked that he thought a peculiarity of his brain had done him a great deal of harm in his life. 'I first noticed it,' said the senator, 'when I was a boy going to school in Scotland. I had a strict old preacher for a tutor, and with a number of other boys went to the parsonage to be educated. One night I was very sleepy and still had a long Latin lesson to get off. I tried hard to learn it, but almost before I was aware I would be dozing. At length I read the exercise through in a half-dreaming condition, and, with the Latin all a jumble in my head, I went to sleep. I awoke the next morning with my brain thoroughly clear, and strange to say, all the ambiguities in my difficult lesson were made plain and I read the Latin without a balk. The same thing happened a second time, and I again found that when I went to sleep with a confused idea of my lesson, learning it while half dozing, that I awoke with all the knotted points unraveled. It became my custom after that to read my tasks over just before going to bed, and I never failed to have them in the morning. My strict old tutor saw that I never studied, and thought one of the other boys was helping me. At length he gave me a page of Livy to translate, and told me if I did not have it for him the next morning he would flog me. He then forbid any of the boys coming near me and watched my actions. I read the lines as usual before going to sleep and sure enough the next day I had them pat as you please. He never troubled me after that. Well, the year passed by, and I found my faculty still clinging to me, till I began to put too much faith in it and depended almost entirely on my mysterious helper. Some time ago, a phrenologist came to examine my family's heads, and they all went wild over him. I paid no attention to their talk, though my wife urged me to give the man a trial. One day, however, he met me and was so persistent that I at length sat down to him. He said that he would examine my head for $3, and give me a chart for $5. I told him $3 was all I would throw away and he began to name my characteristics. At length he said: "You have one faculty that is fully developed. It is spirituality." You have that faculty developed to a marked degree. You would have made a fine medium. Your mind is capable of working separate from your body; that is, it can perform mental labor while the body is at rest and knows nothing of it. You sometimes solve difficult problems while you are asleep, and wake up in the morning without knowing that you have been at work." "Here is $5," said I, "a man who knows as much as you do deserves it."

"'My strange faculty,' continued Senator Beck, 'whether it be spiritual or not, is growing weaker. I can hardly explain the action of my mind during these abnormal spells. I see the lines and words before my mind's eye, and, without knowing the process, or, indeed, being aware of any process, I work out the problem.'

"You remember John Sherman's anecdote of Beck," continued the gentleman. "Beck was working day and night on the tariff bill, when a member wondered how he got any rest. 'Oh,' said Sherman, who was present, 'Beck rests himself when he makes a speech.' A man who can work when he should rest may be pardoned if he rests when he should work."

Diseases of an exhaustive nature the have a tendency to create an unnatural feeling such as fatigue, lassitude and great weakness throughout the system owe their origin to a lack of iron in the blood. Brown's Iron Bitters will restore the blood to its natural healthful condition. Get the blood pure by using this remedy and disease will be quickly banished.

Mr. James Lampps, Sheboygan, Wis., says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for rheumatism and obtained relief."

Dr. E. B. Weathers, Elkton, Ky., says: "I regard Brown's Iron Bitters as a medicine of unusual worth."

Why Be Downcast.

True, you are in a miserable condition—you are weak, palid and nervous. You cannot sleep at night, nor enjoy your waking hours; yet, why lose heart? Get at the druggist's a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. They will restore you to health and peace of mind.

Dr. F. B. BREWER

Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach. Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. The armory was crowded, but notwithstanding the crowd, everything passed by smoothly, and the best of order prevailed throughout. The music was furnished by Anderson's orchestra, and the supper by Shurtleff. The company are to be congratulated for the immense success of their 30th festival.

—Sargent George Scarcliff was the winner of the Doe prize badge last night at the competitive drill of the Janesville Guards. The Guards are taking considerable interest in the award of this handsome badge, and the guard who wins it in three consecutive drills will pass for a professional soldier in any place. Lieutenant Frank Webster and Sargent Wm. Hemming were close competitors for the badge last evening, but were compelled to finally step to the rear, and allow Sargent Scarcliff to wear the badge for a time, at least.

—Mrs. W. B. Britton, Mrs. J. C. Metcalf, and her niece, Miss Jennie Metcalf, left for the east to-day. Mrs. and Miss Metcalf go direct to Washington, and Mrs. Britton will stop at Baltimore to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. T. Lane, before visiting the national capital. Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Metcalf will spend the winter in the east, most of the time in Washington. Miss Metcalf will return home in time to resume her position as teacher in the public schools after the holidays. Colonel Britton intends joining his wife in Baltimore sometime in January.

—Last evening Mr. G. C. Dickinson brought into our office a portion of a petrified fish, taken out of the stone quarry at Mount Zion by Mr. Charles Rand. The entire fish was taken out, but was broken in several pieces. It measures five feet in length, and five and a half inches in diameter near the center. Some of the fins were preserved on the back and the entrails in one portion were easily found. The different pieces of the petrified fish will be put together and preserved. When first taken from the quarry it was very rotten, but upon being exposed to the air, soon hardened, and now has the color and appearance of burned limestone.

—The alarm of fire at 11:30 o'clock this forenoon was quickly responded to by the fire department, and a large number of citizens. The cause of the alarm was a pan of burning lard in Parker & Evenson's restaurant, of South Main street, which, becoming over heated on a hot stove, took fire, filling the building with smoke and causing the alarm to be given. Mr. Charley Evenson was badly burned on the right side of his face and hands, in throwing the pan of lard out doors, and Mr. Parker had his hands burned severely in extinguishing the blaze. Although the department was on hand in double-quick time, their services were not required, as the fire was confined to the pan containing the lard. Of course, the room was densely filled with smoke, which led many to believe that the building was on fire.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The jury in the case of the state against H. L. Spencer, of Delavan, for assault upon a man in his employ named Rupert, retired at 12:30 to-day, and returned in a few minutes with a verdict of not guilty. Some of the particulars of the case were given in the Gazette yesterday.

The testimony of all the witnesses, both for the state and the defendant, tended to show that Rupert was drunk and assailed his employer with violently abusive language and threats of killing him, because he was discharged, and told to go to the office and get his pay, and that the blow he got from the handle of a pitch fork was unquestionably given in self defense. If the affair had occurred in Janesville, Rupert would doubtless have been arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and bound over to keep the peace; but the good citizens of Delavan seemed to have talked themselves into a fever heat over the "outrage," and the district attorney has indulged this feeling to the extent of a costly and useless trial. To persons who do not live in Delavan it seems ridiculous that such a case should ever have been prosecuted.

The case of Sylvester Morgan estate administrator vs. Lucy E. Bartholomew, is on trial this afternoon. Messrs. William Street and Sale & Pierce are plaintiff's attorneys and Messrs. B. F. Dunwiddie and O. H. Fethers appear for the defendant. It is an action to recover the amount of two promissory notes of $300 each, part of the estate of C. C. Belden, of Johnstown, which the plaintiff claims was converted by the defendant to her own use. Mrs. Bartholomew was the mother of C. C. Belden.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

In the municipal court this morning Christian Pringle, an Icelander, sixty-five years old, who had wended his way into the temperate zone, but whose appetite for intoxication was not as temperate as the zone in which he was found last evening by the city marshal, was locked up in the county jail. This morning he found himself out of money, cold and hungry, and was given one day to recuperate at the county expense.

George Trenwirth appeared before the court and plead not guilty to the charge of larceny. The trial was set for Tuesday next—which will be by jury.

St. Mary's Fair.

Another immense crowd of people, men, women and children, packed Apollo hall last evening, to enjoy the amusements attending the fair now in progress for the benefit of St. Mary's church. Thoroughgood's cornet band furnished excellent music during the evening, and the vast crowd was as busy as a hive of bees, the best of order and good humor prevailing throughout. The fair is a grand success, and the society will reap a handsome benefit. It will continue this evening, to-morrow and to-morrow evening.

The voting on giving the easy chair, donated by the Holy Name society, to the most popular young gentleman in the city, was commenced last evening, and a half hour's sport was indulged in inaugurating the balloting. The tally stood George Charlton 60; Thomas Butler 50, and Nick Moran 110. Other candidates will come to the front this evening, when the balloting will become interesting. Those who drew prizes last evening were as follows:

Silver butter dish, presented by Mr. Hart, drawn by No. 30, Mrs. Parker; Moss rose china tea set, presented by the Young ladies sodality, drawn by No. 12, Mary Meuahan; table spread, presented by Mrs. John Campbell, drawn by No. 30, Mrs. James Murphy; pair vases, presented by Mrs. Fuller, drawn by No. 75, Miss Nellie Connell; pair of pillows, presented by Mrs. Con. McGinley, drawn by No. 141, Mrs. Ann O'Grady; tidy, presented by Miss Josie Malone, drawn by No. 19, Mrs. Doran, of Fulton; hair brush, presented by W. M. Eldredge, drawn by No. 3, Thomas Riley; Lady's work table, presented by Britton & Kimball, drawn by No. 3, John Gluckey; pink toilet set, presented by Mrs. John Ehrlinger, drawn by No. 80, James Dee; silver breakfast castor, presented by the H. N. society, drawn by No. 75, Hannah Arthur; wine colored toilet set, presented by Miss Mary Holloran, drawn by No. 55, John Conley; set of glassware, presented by Mrs. Ed. Murphy, drawn by No. 26, Thomas Burns; silver cake basket, presented by Miss Mary Haley, drawn by No. 158, Michael Kerns, of Madison.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Another Crowded House Greet the Boys in Blue.

Lappin's music hall was again crowded last night, and the committee were compelled to turn many away who could not be provided for with seats or standing room. The programme was the same as on the previous evening, with but few slight changes. The tableaux were well presented, and if anything moved along a little more smooth than on the first representation. Department Commander Phil. Check, Jr. of Baraboo, was present and delivered the opening address, which was brief and right to the point. Miss Gertie Wheeler charmed the audience with her wonderful violin playing, giving them "Auld Lang Syne" and the "Mocking Bird," and as an encore gave "Spring Awakening," piano accompaniment by Mrs. Lizzie E. Bintliff. "The Three Old Maids of Lee," a soprano solo, was charmingly rendered by Miss Hattie Dearborn, who, as on the previous evening, received well merited applause. Miss Lillian Child, DeLong recited in a creditable manner the humorous poem entitled the "Sneezing duet," which brought her again before the audience, when she gave the story of "Mary Had a Little Lamb." This we believe embraced all the deviations from the programme of the previous night. All who participated performed their parts in an able manner, giving the public one of the best home entertainments ever witnessed in this city. The managers deserve great credit for their excellent taste in presenting the tableaux, and as a result the two nights' entertainment will no doubt add a considerable sum of money to the treasury of the post. We understand that there is talk among the members of the post looking to the third presentation of the same scenes at an early day. Some desired to repeat it to-morrow evening, but the committee in charge of the details are tired out, and prefer to wait until some favorable time after the holidays, when perhaps they may consent to again give it their attention.

We understand that to the hard work and artistic skill of Mr. Al. Bintliff and Mr. J. B. Green, much praise is due for the success of the enterprise, both these gentlemen, with others of the post, having given much time and a great deal of labor for its success.

Dr. Huntley's Good Fortune.

Washington dispatches bring us the announcement that the Rev. Dr. Huntley, formerly of this city, has been elected chaplain of the United States senate, an office that carries with it honor and distinction. The special telegram to the Inter Ocean says:

The Rev. Dr. Huntley, the new chaplain, is a native of New York. He is known throughout the west from his connection with the Lawrence university, at Appleton, Wis., of which he was until recently president, a position he held for some years. He is an eloquent and rather sensational preacher, at present pastor of Dr. Newman's old church. He was formerly pastor of Court Street church at Janesville, Wis.

The friends of Dr. Huntley throughout the west, will feel greatly pleased over his worthy promotion. There have been 46 chaplains of the senate since the organization of that body in 1789, and among them have been the greatest divines this country has produced. Dr. Huntley makes the twelfth Methodist that has filled that important position, and his predecessors had won national reputations through their scholarship and eloquence. The term "sensational" as used in the Inter Ocean dispatch and as generally taken, can not properly be applied to Dr. Huntley. He is original, and many times humorous, and in that way has become very popular and widely known, but he never dishonors his ministerial position by sensational sermons after the fashion of the average sensational preachers. Dr. Huntley's salary for opening the United States senate with prayers at 12 o'clock each day, will be $900 a year.

Weights Will Tell.

It is quietly whispered around that there will be no end to the social amusements at the Court Street Methodist church social, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lowell, of the first ward, this evening. Something entirely new will be introduced, it being the sale of supper tickets to the gentlemen according to the weight of the lady he may happen to have under escort, the price being fixed at a quarter of a cent per pound, avoirdupois—no Troy weights allowed. As it is generally conceded that all the ladies will be very weighty, of their size; a pair of Fairbank's standard scales have been procured, and balanced at two hundred and fifty pounds—no lady is supposed to weigh less—therefore the amusement loving portion of the society will have an opportunity of putting up a corner on some unsuspecting escort, provided the lady has the ability to carry "weights for age." The scales that have been procured are of the smaller pattern, and are only capable of weighing one thousand pounds; and as it is generally conceded that no able-bodied Methodist lady can balance the bar at one-quarter that amount, there will be no danger of a very heavy draft on the pocket book. As "light weights" are not very profitable at "weigh socials," it is expected that the ladies who can scarcely record 250 pounds, will likely have to iron-clad themselves for this occasion, concealing about their person as many flat-irons, and other toilet articles, such as tea lead, or pinking irons, and clothes wringers, as they may think proper, that they may be considered profitable members of the society to which they belong. At all events, we know of a few who will attend for the purpose of having some amusement with weights, and we have no doubt but that they will be satisfied, especially if some beautiful lady, ready to be lifted upon the scales should accidentally step upon his sore corns. Size is something very deceiving—and there is no question but that some of the ladies will deceive their escorts at the Lowell residence this evening.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 24 degrees above zero. Cloudy, with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 22 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 12 degrees below and 22 degrees above zero.

> Orfordville, Wis.

At the time appointed one hundred and forty-five reported personally, guests being present from Fargo, Dakota; Independence, Iowa; Neillsville, Madison, Milwaukee, Brodhead, Janesville, Beloit, and all the surrounding towns in Wisconsin, Milledgeville, Ill.; Hudson, New York; and Falls City, Neb. At 7 o'clock the guests began to arrive and were very happily received and welcomed by the hostess. Everything being in readiness at 8 o'clock the home trio, Miss Cora at the organ, Lyman at the viol and Master Byron with the violin struck up the wedding march in the main parlor. Soon the bride and groom appeared led by the Rev. I. S. Eldredge, pastor of the M. E. church, at Orfordville, but otherwise unattended. The pastor pronounced the ceremony followed by prayer by Rev. H. G. Sedgewick, a former pastor. An hour of congratulations and social enjoyment followed when the marriage feast was announced, and such a feast; enough to say that the skill and training that made little Cora the boss bread maker of Rock county, at 12, had lost none of its culinary cunning.

In the spacious dining room at two large tables, covers were laid for thirty which were renewed five times. As to costumes they were undoubtedly in full regulation. The presents were all the choicest of their kind, useful and valuable amounting in value to about $450.00. The entire entertainment was perfect in every detail, comprehensive, lavish and complete; music, song and happiness filled the glad hours. The groom is one of Spring Valley's most honored and substantial men, and the bride one of Plymouth's fairest daughters and a particular favorite in all the circle of her acquaintance. The happy pair leave immediately for Dakota and Iowa for a two weeks' vacation, when they will return and settle down on his farm, the old homestead, where they will be glad to welcome their many friends.

Dakota Gold Mines.

Extracts from the report of the superintendent of the Penobscot mining company, situated near Custer City, Dakota Territory:

The property consists of two mines adjoining, each 300x1500 feet, with sufficient water rights, all surrounded by an abundance of the best pine timber for building purposes and fuel.

The present company bought and commenced to work the property over two years ago, of the original locators. At that time an old worn out mill was on the property, so primitive and useless that it could be used only as a prospect mill.

The mine is now thoroughly prospected and opened up in shape to show a body of pay ore, 70x1,500 feet, and to an unknown depth.

Twenty-five thousand dollars have been spent in developing the property, such as sinking shafts and running drifts to ascertain the extent of the ore body, during which time 2800 tons of ore have been milled, yielding $14,000 in gold.

The property will warrant the erection of a first class mill. The ore is bright, brittle and of the so called low grade free milling. One stamp of 750 pounds will crush 4 tons in 24 hours. Our clean ups have averaged $5 per ton, besides an estimated loss of 30 per cent from poor machinery; with an 80 stamp mill the ore can be mined, milled and all expenses paid at $1.21 per ton; with a 40 stamp mill at $1.54, and with a 20 stamp mill at $1.97 per ton.

We invite the co-operation of capital to assist us in the erection of suitable machinery. Samples of the ore can be seen at the Myers house, also further information given to parties wishing to investigate.
